A green ribbon through the desert

Let's begin by following the Nile through the desert.

Sites plotted at their real locations on a modern base map (Natural Earth). The Nile's course and the coast are modern; Lake Nasser was created by the Aswan High Dam in the 1960s.

AT A GLANCE

- Egyptians called the dark, flood-fed soil of the valley the Black Land
- The deserts on either side were the Red Land
- The river runs north
- So Upper Egypt lies in the south, and Lower Egypt in the Delta

Places you'll visit in the episode

Ten places from the episode, from Giza to Abu Simbel.

Giza · The pyramids of Khufu, Khafre and Menkaure, and the Great Sphinx.

Saqqara · Djoser's Step Pyramid, designed by tradition by Imhotep, in the Third Dynasty.

Dahshur · The Bent and Red Pyramids, experiments on the way to the true pyramid.

Memphis · The early capital, near the meeting of the valley and the Delta.

Amarna · Akhenaten's new city for the Aten, abandoned after his death.

Thebes · The southern capital, with Karnak, Luxor Temple and the Valley of the Kings.

Deir el-Bahri · Hatshepsut's terraced temple, with reliefs of the voyage to Punt.

Deir el-Medina · The village of the royal tomb builders, rich in letters and records.

Abu Simbel · Ramesses II's rock temples, moved to higher ground in the 1960s.

Alexandria · Alexander's city of 332 BCE, home of the Library and the Pharos.

An empire beyond the river

Now let's step back and look at Egypt's neighbours.

Approximate extent of Egypt and its neighbours around 1500 BCE, at the start of the New Kingdom, simplified from the open historical-basemaps dataset; borders are approximate. In the following centuries Egyptian armies campaigned north to Megiddo and Kadesh and far south into Nubia.

People you'll meet

The kings, queens and scholars you'll meet along the way.

Narmer · The king of the Narmer Palette, often linked with the unification of Egypt.

Imhotep · By tradition the designer of Djoser's Step Pyramid, later honoured as a sage.

Khufu · Builder of the Great Pyramid of Giza, in the Fourth Dynasty.

Sinuhe · Hero of a famous Middle Kingdom story of exile and homecoming.

Hatshepsut · A woman who ruled as pharaoh; builder of the temple at Deir el-Bahri.

Thutmose III · Warrior king whose army marched through a narrow pass to Megiddo.

People you'll meet

Akhenaten & Nefertiti · The royal couple of the Aten and the city of Amarna.

Tutankhamun · A young king whose nearly intact tomb was found in 1922.

Ramesses II · Reigned some 66 years; builder of Abu Simbel and the Ramesseum.

Cleopatra VII · Last ruler of the Ptolemaic dynasty; died in 30 BCE.

Champollion · French scholar who cracked hieroglyphs in 1822, building on Thomas Young.

Howard Carter · Archaeologist who, with Lord Carnarvon, saw "wonderful things".

WHILE YOU LISTEN

Things to spot, legend and history

A few things to listen for, and a note on legend and history.

THINGS TO SPOT IN THE EPISODE

- The Narmer Palette, with a king wearing both crowns
- Djoser's Step Pyramid at Saqqara
- Hatshepsut's reliefs of the voyage to Punt
- The tomb builders of Deir el-Medina striking over late rations
- The Rosetta Stone, found at Rashid in 1799

LEGEND OR HISTORY?

Some popular ideas about Egypt are not supported by the evidence. The pyramids were built by organised, rotating crews who were housed and fed at Giza, not by armies of chained slaves. And the many stories about Cleopatra come mostly from later Roman writers. The episode keeps these apart from what the sources and the monuments show.

Artistic impressions of the hypostyle hall at Karnak and of Abu Simbel at sunrise, made for the episode. They are not historical records.

A BEDTIME QUESTION

If you could spend one evening by the Nile, would you choose Giza, Thebes or Abu Simbel?

"Let the river slow now in your mind. Let the temples grow dim and kind. You have nowhere to be, and nothing left to carry."
